K.O. 14 Jap Naval Ships In Big Victory

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

PEARL HARBOR, June 22 (AP)—United States carrier planes sank one Japanese aircraft carrier and three tankers Monday in the war's third smashing blow on the Japanese fleet in a follow-up to Sunday's air battle off the Marianas in which 353 enemy planes were destroyed.

The combined blow was the third hardest blow at the Japanese navy since Pearl Harbor.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said possibly a fifth enemy vessel, a destroyer, was sunk in the Monday battle between the Marianas and the Philippines.

Nine enemy war vessels, in addition, were damaged, making a total of 14 ships put out of action.

Stunned, the enemy fleet offered no counterattack.

"What was left of the Japs when the battle was over," said Adm. Nimitz reported, "There was no surface contact."

LISTS HEAVY JAP LOSSES.

Adm. Nimitz, who stayed at his headquarters past midnight receiving battle reports and still appearing bright-eyed despite his 60 years, said the Jap force consisted of four or more battleships, five or six carriers, five fleet tankers and an unspecified number of cruisers and destroyers.

He listed these casualties inflicted on the enemy:

"One carrier, believed to be the Zuikaku (17,000 tons), received three 1000-pound bomb hits."

"One Hayataka class carrier was sunk."

"One Hayataka class cruiser was severely damaged and left burning furiously."

"One light carrier (probably around 10,000 tons), Zuiho Talkho class, received at least one bomb hit."

"One Kongo class battleship (28,000 tons) was damaged."

"One cruiser was damaged."

"Three destroyers were damaged, one of which is believed to have sunk."

"Three tankers were sunk."

"Two tankers were severely damaged and left burning."

"Fifteen to 20 defending aircraft were shot down."

NO U. S. SHIP LOSS

The U. S. 5TH Fleet suffered no ship losses.

Two U. S. carriers and one battleship suffered "superficial damage" and 21 aircraft were lost in combat.

A fleet spokesman said superficial damage means the ship's capacity for battle was not impaired, indicating these three probably participated in Monday's action.

Some of the American pilots downed may have been rescued, Nimitz said, as they took to rubber life rafts during the attack.

The Monday action ended at nightfall. There was no indication that the battle had been resumed since.

Adm. Nimitz also announced that 353 enemy planes were shot down in the Japanese futile attempt Sunday on Adm. Mitscher's force. This added 53 enemy craft to the previous estimate of 300 destroyed.

Only 49 of its planes were lost in the Sunday air battle, which represented an attempt of Jap

Hitler Fled Invasion Defeat?

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—

Reports from the underground in Germany said today Hitler established headquarters at or near Le Mans the day after the Allies landed in Normandy 100 miles to the north, but soon withdrew to Troyes beyond Paris and finally returned to Berchtesgaden.

The argument used by the German generals to get him to return to his mountain retreat, it was said, was the he could not afford to have his name associated closely with another German defeat.

Slash Cherbourg 3 Ways

By WES GALLAGHER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, June 22 (AP) — Hard-driving American infantry fought house-to-house with the Germans today for possession of Cherbourg and, in swift advances on the east and west, threatened to cut Nazi forces on the peninsula into three segments. Supreme headquarters said it lacked any knowledge of a reported American ultimatum by field radio to the Cherbourg garrison demanding surrender by 7 a. m. The London Daily Sketch said last night it had received such a broadcast.

Reds Push Drive To K.O. Finland

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—The Red army hurled masses of men and equipment into two new drives on a broad front north of Lake Ladoga today in an effort to make a quick end of the war with Finland.

Launching of the drives was announced last night in a Moscow communique, which also disclosed that Soviet forces advancing from captured Viipuri on the Karelian Isthmus south of Lake Ladoga were within 20 miles of the border fixed at the end of the 1939-40 Finnish-Russian war.

A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said a Finnish peace cabinet had already been selected.

STOCKHOLM, June 22 (AP)—The newspaper Aftonbladet said today the Russians have offered to cease war against Finland if the Finns accept the borders settled on in 1940 and give three concessions on troop movement:

First, right to pass through any part of Finland for the purpose of concentrating Red army troops against German divisions in northern Finland.

Second, right to operate from airplane bases in Osterbotten so Red air force can attack areas occupied by Germans.

Third, right to hold bases in the Aland Islands to strengthen assault on German supply lines.

CHERBOURG—Backed by artillery and planes, American infantry is today pounding at Cherbourg, blasting an entrance to the port city between Ft. Ocleville (1) and Ft. du Roule (2) and plunging to within one mile of the docks.

Allies Near Ancona, Prize Italian Port

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ROME, June 22 (AP)—Allied and Italian troops are within 32 miles of Ancona, prize Italian port on the Adriatic coast, while Eighth Army troops are approaching Camerino, approximately 35 miles east of Perugia. Allied headquarters announced today.

American forces to the west have pushed on 15 airline miles northwest of Grosseto.

The advance toward Ancona, ranking next to Venice in port facilities, was made by troops which have reached Fermo, only 65 airline miles below Rimini, the eastern anchor of the so-called Pisa-Florence-Rimini line, where the fleeing Germans may offer stiff resistance against the Allied drive.

Eighth Army troops have also approached Nocera Umbra, 14 miles west of Camerino.

It was assumed that if the ultimatum was made it was rejected and that Gen. Bradley had ordered a final attack. Supreme headquarters said it was possible the field commander might have made the demand on his own authority.

3 MILES FROM SEA

On the American left flank infantry plunged to within three miles of the sea in the vicinity of St. Croix-Hague, astride the main highway to Cap de la Hague, where some German forces are reported seeking at least temporary refuge.

On the right a fast-moving column spearheaded to a point almost as close to the northern coast by reaching the Saire river near the village of Le Theil. In the center substantial gains were made along the main road from Valognes. Communique No. 33 reported advances of two to three miles along the entire front.

INSPECT BOMB BASES

Allied experts flew into the Cherbourg peninsula to investigate the flying bomb bases captured intact by the American troops, but the supreme command said there were no indications the Germans had been using these against England.

It appeared, a spokesman said, that the American drive over the peninsula left the enemy insufficient time to get the launching sites ready for operation.

Except for the swift encircling drive on Cherbourg, there was little activity on the beachhead.

The assault on Cherbourg captured the spotlight, but it was apparent Gen. Bradley was striking with vigor to round up the Ger-

Blast 3 R's--Ruhr, Rhine, Robots

By GLADWIN HILL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, June 22 (AP)—American Fortresses and Liberators today gave the rocket-launching grounds in the Pas-de-Calais area their fourth hammering in less than 24 hours.

The daylight blow followed a night of far-flung aerial attacks extending from France to Germany's industrial Ruhr and Berlin, dwarfing the Germans' cross-channel barrage of rocket bombs, which are asserted today to be coming over with incendiary loads. (The Germans broadcast, with-out Allied confirmation, that the American planes which bombed Berlin yesterday and flew on to Russia used an airbase at Plova, the Ukraine, 1500 miles from London.)

Last night Berlin was attacked by Mosquitos while British Lancasters hit Ruhr and Rhineland objectives.

Forty-six bombers were missing from widespread British operations, which included mine laying in enemy waters.

The German radio warned today Allied planes were over Styria, perhaps indicating American bombers from Italy were out.

Yanks Open Final Drive To Smash Saipan Japs

By REMBERT JAMES
(Representing The Combined American Press)

ABOARD FLAGSHIP OFF SAIPAN, June 22 (AP)—Japan's fleet, after a week of complex maneuvering, is still avoiding surface battle with the United States Fleet guarding the Saipan invasion.

The Asito airbase on Saipan, most valuable in the Marianas and only 1500 miles from Japan and the Philippines, was ready for operation today after Seabees repaired and extended its 3600-foot main runway.

Marines and Army troops launched a major attack this morning to wipe out Japanese defending the island. The attack began shortly after dawn with veteran forces pushing ahead along a four-mile front extending entirely across the island from the outskirts of Garapan, main town on the western shore, and eastward along the slopes of Mount Tapotchau to Magicienne Bay on the east coast.

At one point the Marines advanced one mile in the first three hours.

The Americans finally captured this mountainous and similar positions, killing 75 Japanese in one cave. Flame throwers were used in destroying enemy mountain strongholds.

While some of the forces were engaged on the mountainside, other American troops shot their way through swamps and woodlands and fire-blackened cane fields and even through suburban city streets along the thickly-populated western shore.

The resistance was bitter but the outnumbered and outnumbered Japanese, now without either sea or air strength, were forced backward.

One of the greatest advantages held by the Americans was in artillery superiority.

Reports from shore indicated heavy Japanese losses which the enemy apparently was trying to conceal. Americans found many Japanese bodies, and along one road captured two truckloads of dead Japanese which the enemy was trying to hide.

Great stores of Japanese rice and fish and war material already have fallen into American hands—the food coming in handy for feeding hundreds of Japanese civilians and natives from the town of Charan Kanoa and other settlements who have flocked into American lines for safety.

Ammunition that fits American mortars, light field artillery, considerable gasoline, four narrow gauge railroad locomotives, autos and trucks and even three lightly damaged Japanese planes have been captured.

Lawley Builds Ship in Day

By The Associated Press

Approximately 600 ship builders began work at 7 a. m. today on a 24-hour wonder—a 150-foot infantry landing vessel—which they hoped to complete at the same time tomorrow. Although Lawley shipyard officials at Neponset set 24 hours for completion of the vessel, an LCI, they expected to have the ship completely rigged in 18 hours and commissioned by 8 a. m. Monday.

Building plans call for launching by 11:30 tonight. Yard officials said that should take some effort on the part of other shipyards to beat.

The vessel, which will have a 27-foot beam and is similar in construction to ships which landed men on the French invasion coast, will have a crew of 25 men and four officers, and a transport capacity of 200 infantrymen.

Construction is in charge of Edward Whiting, general manager of the Lawley yard, with Lt. Com. E. S. Fleming of the Navy inspection office overseeing the work.

The ship sections were completed when the men began the

Police Hunt Death Scene Car Owner

Furnished with the description and part of the registration number of a car seen parked in the lane off Winter st., Norwell, where the body of 10-year-old Frances McGrath was found, state detectives today sought identity of the car's owner in their widening hunt for the kidnaper and sex fiend slayer of the little Dorchester girl.

This latest lead, said by investigators to be the most promising yet uncovered, was furnished police by Mrs. Mercy Cole LaVange of First Parish rd., Scituate.

She reported she saw this car in the lane as she drove by with her three daughters. The dome light in the car was snapped off by a man just as she was passing, Mrs. LaVange said.

DATE KEPT SECRET

The date of this incident was carefully kept secret by police, but they disclosed that it happened shortly after 1 o'clock on a morning before the finding of the kidnap victim's body.

Mrs. LaVange said she slowed down as she drove by and noticed that the man who was on the running board of the parked machine seemed to be searching for something. She got a good look at the man and the car before he switched off the inside light, the woman reported, adding that she noticed the glass of the rear registration plate holder was broken.

The woman's story was the first report of a car being seen there, and because of their belief that the body was taken to the grove in a machine, detectives today made careful measurements of the 100-foot-long lane.

15 FEET FROM SPOT

The spot where the car was seen is about 15 feet from where the slayer had carefully placed the body of his tiny victim. Mrs. LaVange's story that the man she saw appeared to be looking for something was considered important by investigators who recalled that the killer had disposed of the body with meticulous care.

They pointed out he had arranged little Frances' clothing neatly alongside of her head. Her coat was folded and her shoes placed on top of the coat.

Another phase of the investigation today was the chemical analysis of a bundle of clothing, including a pair of stained shorts, found in the North river at Scituate. Police did not reveal who found the clothing, but disclosed that laundry marks on several pieces were being checked to determine ownership.

QUIZ ELDERLY MAN

An elderly man, who lives alone in a Scituate cabin, was questioned at length today. Police said he was once involved in a sex offense and that his cabin.

Sailors Chip in To Pay Strikers

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The Associated Press is in receipt of the following communication by registered airmail, marked as coming from the U. S. S. Coos Bay, a sea-plane tender, and stamped "passed by naval censor":

"U. S. S. COOS BAY (AVP-25)
C/O Fleet Post Office
San Francisco, Cal.
10 June 1944

"The Associated Press
Editorial Department
San Francisco, Cal.

"Sir:

"We the crew of the U. S. S. Coos Bay, which consists mainly of survivors of other naval ships or veterans of major naval engagements, and who all have seen action, not once but many times, and who, while on this cruise, have not had a liberty for one full year, feel that we can do more than fight and even give our lives if necessary for our country. We are willing to help pay the wage increase from our meager pay that money-hungry strikers are demanding if they will just continue to produce the implements necessary so that we can end this war. We have seen war—and we hate it.

"We have chosen you as our agent or go-between to represent us in our campaign to 'buy off' the present strikers of the Wright Aircraft Corp. with the money we have collected from our small crew: a total of 41,200 pennies.

"Please implore them to end their strike and accept our offer to help pay their wage increase which they feel is more important than our lives.

"Ask them not to strike in the future but, instead, to let the men in the war zone know of their dissatisfaction and they will gladly chip in each month to save them from starvation so that they may continue to produce arms for us to defeat their enemy as well as ours, and so that we may come home soon to see the ones we love, our sons and daughters whom we have never seen and our wives and mothers who haunt us with memories day and night; also you see our country for which we are willing to die—yes—and to see you strikers; do you want to see us?

"Out here we are close to our 'foreign' enemies and can properly deal with them; our enemies at home we cannot reach. Therefore, in desperation, we can think of nothing but to offer our money to 'buy' them back to work; this money having been earned honestly and in the belief that our efforts were the salvation and protection of those striking against us.

"THE CREW OF THE U. S. S. COOS BAY.

"P. S. If the Wright strike is over, just choose another. There are always plenty at hand."

The money accompanying this letter, all in U. S. paper currency, has been forwarded to the Secretary of the Navy, James V. Forrestal. It comprised three $100 bills, five of the $20 denomination, one $10 bill and one $2 bill.

UAW-CIO CRISIS
At Washington the Associated Press sought comment from Forrestal and R. J. Thomas, national president of the United Automobile Workers, members of which union were involved in an unauthorized strike at the plant of the Wright Aeronautical Co. at Lockland, O. Comment also was sought from local officers of the union.

Thomas said at Detroit May 27 that "public opinion has become inflamed against our union" (because of unauthorized strikes in war plants) and added:

"The UAW-CIO today faces one of the gravest crises in its history. On the outcome of this crisis will depend the possibilities of our survival in the postwar period. The test is this: are the membership of our union and its leaders willing to abide by the democratic decisions and mandates of our constitution and conventions."

U. S. Bombers Smash 2 Nazi Troop Trains

HEADQUARTERS U. S. NINTH AIR FORCE IN FRANCE, June 22 (AP)—A squadron of Thunderbolts smashed two German troop trains a few moments after a patrol saw the trains—filled with enemy reinforcements—below Barzeville Tuesday night.

Women Voters Outnumber Men

With thousands of Boston's sons away at war, women voters registered for the July 11 primaries outnumber the men for the first time in city history.

There are 319,669 persons eligible to vote. Women number 164,249, men only 155,412. There are 22,517 fewer voters than on the list for the state primaries two years ago.

Men outnumber the women only in East Boston, Ward 3 in downtown Boston, the two South Boston wards, and Ward 14, Dorchester. Ward 14, now the largest in the city, has 21,153 registered voters.

Train Riders Face Ouster for Wounded

NEW YORK, June 22 (INS)—The Office of Defense Transportation warned today that non-essential passengers on railroads face the prospect of being "dumped" from their seats, if not the trains as well, to make room for wounded men returned from the French invasion coast.

The railroads, already heavily taxed by vast shipments of troops and war materials, are transporting greater numbers of civilians, but the casualties must and will have priority, the ODT said in a new program revealed to the War Writers Board.

Pledges to Call New Deal Foes

Special to Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, June 22—The American Democratic national committee stood pledged today to call a convention of all anti-New Deal organizations if the Democratic party renominates President Roosevelt or names any other New Dealer.

The convention will be held as soon as practicable after the major party conventions under provisions of a resolution adopted by the committee as it concluded a two-day caucus yesterday.

Before the resolutions committee met, James A. Reed, former Democratic senator from Missouri, told the caucus President Roosevelt had flouted the Constitution by sponsoring New Deal legislation. He drew cheers when he said:

"I am opposed to the surrender of any part of the sovereignty of this nation to any international tribunal or group of foreign rulers."

"I am for an America strong, powerful and independent. I know but one country—the United States of America. I reverence but one flag—the Stars and Stripes. May it float forever over a free and independent people."

Shuttle Flight May Be Record

ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 22 (AP)—American Mustang fighters wrote a new page in aerial history, it was disclosed today, by flying from Britain to bases in Russia as escort for U. S. heavy bombers which carried out the first shuttle attack on Berlin.

The flight may or may not have set a distance record for the fighters, depending on how far beyond the Russian border the bases lie.

The border itself is some 900 miles from Britain. American fighters have gone several hundred miles further on round trip escorting bombers to Berlin and targets farther east in Germany.

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND, Kandy, Ceylon, June 22 (AP)—Ouster of the last Japanese from the Kohima-Imphal road in Manipur state, India, is expected within a few days, headquarters reports said today.

Clearing of the road was said to be proceeding much faster than originally expected, partly because the Japanese are short of artillery and their ammunition is proving faulty. Recent reports said 60 per cent of Japanese artillery shells are duds.

Cavanaugh, Jr., Would Bomb Japs

Wearing his medals as modestly as did his dad, Lt. Frank Cavanaugh, Jr., of Elm st., Brookline, hero of many a bombing mission over Germany, was home for rest and some of mother's cooking today before getting a long-sought crack at the Japs.

The son of the famous Boston College football coach has been dishing out plenty to the Nazis—just as did his dad—and the bomber he has been flying bears his father's World War I nickname, "Iron Major."

There really have been two "Iron Majors," both Flying Forts, with the original one dropping into the English channel last February after two motors had been shot out over Germany. She just failed to reach her home base.

But the Iron Major II carried on. Before Cav completed his missions and started for home and a well-earned rest, with a string of decorations on his chest, he and his crew had accounted for seven "kills" in combat with Nazi fighters, in addition to planting thousands of bombs on enemy installations.

CAREER LIKE FATHER'S

Like father, like son. Young Cav's career has strangely paralleled that of his father, who enlisted in World War I and came home a major after being decorated by three countries.

Young Cav enlisted, too, won his commission as a lieutenant and bomber pilot. He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters. If his luck holds out, he'll be wearing the Oak Leaves of a major, too, before he's through.

As it is, he missed two of the biggest thrills of his life—promotion to captain and a chance to take part in the "second front" invasion by two days. Just after he was detached from duty and ordered home the official papers promoting him to captain reached his air base in England.

Still, he has the consolation that he and his mates helped soften up the Normandy coast for the invaders. One of his last missions was on a raid that "plastered" the enemy airfield at Caen. Before that he saw a lot of Europe—Berlin, Paris, Augsburg, Danzig, Emden, Frankfurt, Bremen.

In the Emden raid the Yanks knocked down 138 Nazi fighters. "There was a fight," he remarks. But, like so many heroes, this stalwart, six-foot-three-inch son of a fighting father, doesn't like to talk much about what happened over there.

"Once I got enough sleep and home cooking, I want to go out again," he said. "Out again!" probably means the Pacific, for he is scheduled to attend a special school and learn how to fly the Army's new Superfortress.

In all, six sons and a daughter are carrying on the tradition of the "Iron Major."

WOUNDED AT ANZIO

The others are Sgts. David and Philip, Pvs. William, Paul and John, and Sgt. Sarah Cavanaugh of the Marines, stationed in Washington. David, the oldest boy, to whom the major addressed his famous letter during World War I, was recently wounded during the battle for Anzio beachhead in Italy and is now stationed near Rome. "In sight of St. Peter's," he wrote in his last letter home.

Grandmother Saves 2 in Fire

Mrs. Mary A. Fitzpatrick, 59, of Ryder ave., Melrose, was credited today with saving the lives of her two grandchildren, Barbara Marchini, 6, and Carl, 18 months, when fire broke out in a closet in the youngsters' bedroom.

Awakened by the children's cries, the grandmother groped her way through a smoke-filled hallway and carried the children to a neighbor's home. Unaware of this, firemen later searched the house for the children.

Fire Chief Sidney C. Freely blamed the blaze on spontaneous combustion and estimated damage at $1500.

G. E.'s Lightning Hunter Testifies Against Noxon

By PAULINE WARREN

PITTSFIELD, June 22—Karl McEachron, famous "lightning hunter" of the General Electric Co., was called by the state today as the final prosecution witness in the trial of John F. Noxon, Jr., charged with murder in the death of his baby son, Lawrence.

The nationally known expert on man-made lightning followed Dr. Joseph Walker, state chemist, who put in an entire day of testimony and cross-examination by Joseph B. Ely, chief defense counsel.

Dr. Walker, during his testimony, disclosed he had found copper on the bottom of the metal tray on which the lifeless body of the little baby was found.

"In my opinion," he stated, "these copper streaks were caused by some narrow copper object being dragged under the tray."

Dr. Walker also gave as his opinion that they were consistent with having been caused by the exposed copper strands of the radio ground wire—the wire which, the State charges, was the lethal weapon in the death of the baby.

Dr. Walker said he had found copper in the pieces of skin taken from the major burns on the Noxon baby's arms, and that the copper had been under rather than on the surface of the skin. If there had been arcing or sparking from the exposed wire, he said, the copper would have been on the surface of the skin rather than underneath.

Liquor Dealer Waits Sentence

Allowing a plea of counsel, Federal Judge George C. Sweeney has deferred until Monday sentencing of Charles M. Fauci, Boston and Medford liquor dealer, convicted on indictments charging him with the sale of liquor in violation of OPA price ceiling regulations.

The defendant, who broke down and cried during testimony, calmly accepted the jury's verdict of guilty.

Fauci and the corporation of which he was head, were found guilty of selling Mrs. Margaret J. Roach, of Lowell, 350 cases of liquor for $14,700—$1000 above the ceiling price.

He and the corporation were also found guilty of selling 100 cases to Thomas Nuttle for $1527—$1600 above the ceiling price.

Parents of 4 Children Killed In Fire Each Seek Divorce

SALEM, June 22—The parents of four Gloucester children burned to death last February today appeared in Essex County Probate Court seeking divorces in cross-actions charging each other with cruelty and abuse.

Raymond T. Thompson, 31, liberty st., medically discharged soldier, also charged his wife, Rhoda L. Thompson, 29, of Marchant st., with intoxication. She accused Thompson of non-support in addition to cruelty.

Both sought custody of one child who survived the fire which swept their home Feb. 12.

The first witness in support of Thompson's petition was Police Sgt. Eugene Aldes of Gloucester, who probed the fatal fire. He testified the four children had been tied to their cribs.

Aldes said Mrs. Thompson told him she always tied the children in their cribs whenever she left the house. He said she explained she did not want them to walk on the cold floors.

Atty. Gardner L. McDonald, Thompson's counsel, placed in evidence the twin Aldes said was used to tie the children.

Thompson was ill in a Camp Blanding, Ala., hospital at the time of the fire. He is now working as a truck driver.

The children who died in the fire were Raymond, Jr., 3; Robert, 2; Mary, 15 months, and Marjorie, 4 months. Five-year-old Cynthia is the sole survivor.

The case is continuing.

Communities Warned Of Water Shortage

Although slightly above normal, the rainfall in June has not been sufficient to replenish dwindling supplies in Massachusetts reservoirs.

This was the opinion voiced by Arthur D. Weston, chief sanitary engineer of the state health department, in a report that many communities soon may have trouble in meeting water requirements. Most seriously affected are Newton, Dedham, Cambridge and Franklin.

State's Bond Sales Hit $128,900,000

Fifth war loan sales in Massachusetts soared over $128,900,000 today, representing 15.6 per cent of the State's quota, the war finance committee announced. Nationally, sales are 18 per cent of the goal.

The total for Series E bonds, known as the people's bonds, passed $21,800,000, or 19 per cent of the quota in that class of security.

The Bay State's overall quota is $828,000,000.

The Greater Boston area maintained its fast pace in E bond buying by boosting its total to $13,623,000, or 20.7 per cent of the area's $65,600,000 quota, thus raising nearly enough for the purchase of seven landing ships, tanks.

Some 175 cities and towns throughout Massachusetts are investing in the Fifth War Loan huge slices of their 1944 appropriations for postwar rehabilitation funds. These appropriations range from a high of $550,000 for Brookline to $500 for Salem.

A number of towns and cities are investing all their 1944 appropriations in the Fifth War Loan. These include Andover with $75,000, Barnstable with $150,000, Norwood with $150,000, Wakefield with $70,000 and Winchester with $100,000. Braintree invested its $100,000 postwar rehabilitation money in bonds and also bought $50,000 in additional government notes.

Wife, Once Freed In Murder, Dies

AUBURN, Me., June 22—Mrs. Viola Penny Schmidt, chief figure in the unsolved murder of her first husband, John W. Penny, here six years ago, is dead at Boudertown, N. J., according to word received by relatives.

Mrs. Schmidt was arrested following a four months' investigation of the death of Penny, who was found unconscious in the grease pit of his Auburn garage. He had been bludgeoned.

Two months after her arrest, authorities discontinued prosecution and Mrs. Schmidt was freed.

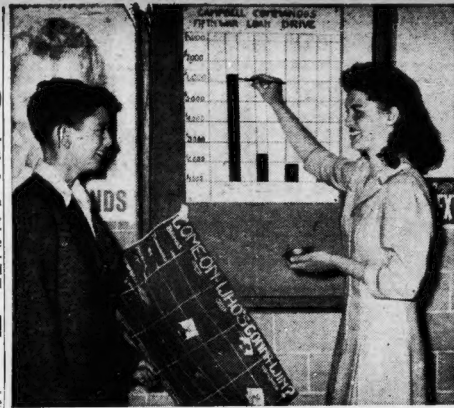

Ickes Praises Crew Of Boston Trawler

The captain and crew of the Boston fishing trawler Lark today prized a letter of praise for their heroism from Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior.

As co-ordinator of fisheries Ickes wrote to the Lark's skipper, Capt. James L. Abbot of Dorchester, offering his aid in getting priorities to repair the ship, recently shelled by a submarine off the New England coast.

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—The German communique today announced the death of Lt. Gen. Hellmich in the fighting on Cherbourg peninsula.

"COMMANDO" TOPS CHART—Chart buster and chart fixer of the Campbell Commandos, war bond selling pupils of the Patrick T. Campbell School, Dorchester, are Alvin T. Brody and Jeanette Enguanti. Alvin's $5250 bond sales in Fifth War Loan broke the bank on the $3000 limit on old chart... so Jeanette puts finishing touches on the new marker.

Rescues Feature INVASION SHOW

Simulating actual warfare conditions, trained crews of various branches of the armed forces will re-enact thrilling air and sea rescues in the Charles River Basin on the afternoon of July 4, as a feature of the INVASION BOND SHOW.

The military spectacle is being presented by the Treasury Department, under auspices of Boston's retail merchants, to stimulate war bond sales during the Fifth War Loan campaign.

Spectators will be shown how servicemen found by planes drifting on spars or overcrowded rafts far from land, and others lost in jungle fastnesses, are given food and succor and eventually saved by planes of adequate capacity.

Servicemen floundering in the river will grasp and inflate rubber rafts dropped by Army and Navy pilots, and coastguardsmen will show how shipwrecked crews are saved by skillful handling of the breeches buoy.

FIRST AID UNITS

Officials of the Treasury Dept. were arranging yesterday with local Red Cross authorities to provide motor units for first aid duty in the holiday throng that will pack the Esplanade, all to be admitted by tickets issued only to purchasers of E F and G war bonds.

Upward of 100 department and specialty stores of the Boston Retail Trade Board whose employees are acting as a mighty sales force in selling war bonds for the Independence Day spectacle, reported yesterday that while customers are showing encouraging co-operation a large percentage of the public must get busy at once.

FOUR BANDS

No patriotic person who wants to back our boys on the fighting front can afford to miss what Army and Navy officials predict will be the greatest, poignant maneuver ever staged by all branches of the services in this country.

Mrs. Higginson In Coma 7th Day

Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, Jr., remained in an unchanging coma at New England Deaconess Hospital today while authorities questioned residents of the West Cornwall, Ct. summer colony for help in solving a brutal attack seven days ago.

Aiding Connecticut state police was Lt. Com. Higginson, who returned to his home there after four days at his wife's bedside.

It was disclosed that a number of socialites had been questioned concerning a party attended last Thursday by the victim and from which she returned home to be savagely beaten over the head.

What police learned was a guarded secret. Officials would make no comment on an object unearthed near the scene. It was taken to state police headquarters and there was a report it might be the weapon that has been sought for a week.

Malley to Retire As FHA Director

Malley, who addressed the Springfield Home Builders and Contractors Ass'n, announced that Joseph M. Stokes, FHA underwriter, would leave the Boston office for the post of supervisor of underwriters in Washington.

OPA Cracks Down On Own Officials

OPA clamped down on its officials both big and little today following charges that it was creating its own black market nearly as much as racketeers.

Gigli Won't Sing Again for Italians

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME, June 22 (AP)—Beniamino Gigli, former Metropolitan Opera tenor forbidden by Allied authorities to sing at a concert because of alleged Fascist connections in the past, declared last night he had never been an active Fascist and attributed opposition to him to "the jealousy of mean people," adding: "I'll never sing for Italians again."

Apparently greatly distressed by the ban, Gigli said:

"Yes, it's true I sang for the Fascists and I sang for the Germans. Now that the Americans and British are here I would like to sing for them, too."

"But I am an artist, and I never had any interest in politics. I never wore a black shirt or a Fascist badge."

When posters carrying his name appeared they were torn down by Italians, and Rome newspapers published bitter attacks on him.

Schlesinger to Sell Film Cartoon Studio

HOLLYWOOD, June 22 (INS)—Leon Schlesinger, creator of numerous animated cartoons—including Merrie Melodies, Bugs Bunny and Porky Pig—announced today an agreement had been reached for the sale of his studio to Warner Brothers for an undisclosed sum, reportedly several hundred thousand dollars.

Schlesinger indicated he plans complete retirement from the motion picture short subject field when the agreement is signed and the sale becomes final July 1.

It was reported that lax handling of coupons had sent many back into the gasoline market and that such handling must cease under threat of criminal prosecution for negligence.

Eldon C. Shoup, regional OPA director, has issued a ban on all mass burning of ration currency following a reported theft of coupons at the Somerville city incinerator. A quick check-up netted coupons calling for 100 gallons, undamaged beneath a grate.

Under a new ruling, all coupons to be destroyed must be forwarded to the original OPA distribution center, whence they will be sent to two Bay State paper mills to be destroyed chemically.

Officials also were in for criticism following a reported theft of coupons sent to a Haverhill processing plant. Many of the coupons soon showed up at gasoline stations as far off as Springfield. When OPA guards left, someone turned off the churning machine and the coupons were reclaimed, according to report.

Family of Fathers In Armed Forces

By HUCK FINNEGAN

ENGLAND—Is there a family in your neighborhood that hasn't given at least one boy, or girl, to Uncle Sam since Dec. 7, '41? It just couldn't be, judging from the talks we have had with a group of men in these foreign climes.

For instance, there is Pvt. Charles N. Wilcox, 29, of 319

Corp. Norman
Miner
No. Brookfield

Columbus ave., Pittsfield. Charlie has five brothers, and here is their record: John, 19, single, with the armed forces in England since last October; Edward, 20, married and one child, with Army in Shreveport, La.; George, 23, married and three children, with Army in Mississippi; Earl, 24, discharged from Army after serving year at Camp Robinson, Ark.; Louis, 27, married and four children, with Navy at Great Lakes.

CHARLIE HAS FIVE

Charlie himself tops the list with five children—Doris, 7, Joan, 5, Charles, Jr., 4, Caroline, 2, and Robert, who will be a year in July. Charlie married Emma Dubiski, a Pittsfield girl, when he was 19. She has her hands full taking care of that brood. But hardly more so than Charlie's sister Marion (Mrs. Frank Digweed) who was left with four children when her husband enlisted in the Navy.

Charlie's father is dead, but his mother, Mrs. Clara Wilcox, still works every day at Eaton Paper Corp. and makes her home at 90 Danford ave., Pittsfield.

Francis J. Frankina, 3 Oak pl., Hyde Park, can be proud of his family's service record, too. Frank married Ann Micuda, a Hyde Park girl, and they have a 15-month-old daughter, Toni.

He's an intelligent chap who was Clem Norton's assistant at Commonwealth Pier in '33 and an attorney for the government in Washington from '33 through '42.

He enlisted in the Navy (yeoman) in Chicago, and much to his chagrin, was returned to Washington. That's the one place he was trying to duck, so he asked for overseas duty, and here he is.

Frank was the fifth member of his family to enlist. The others are Fred, 36; Joe, 21, and Albert, 25, Navy, and Sam, 27, Army.

FOUR IN SERVICE

Philip R. Cahill, 306 Lenox ave., Pittsfield, has two brothers, Billy and Jack, in the Navy (Pacific), and Francis in the Army. It's so long since he heard from Francis he believes he's overseas by this time.

His mother, Catherine, is a widow and his 32-year-old sister is a cripple but Dan Casey, his mother's uncle, is seeing that everything is O. K. Phil used to work for the Travelers' Insurance in Hartford and married Ella Rheame of Pittsfield. ('Shaun Collins used to live on my street," he says.)

Cpl. Norman Miner, 196 Summer st., North Brookfield, also has three brothers in the service—Emery, 32, with the paratroops overseas; Joe, 18, with the Navy in the South Pacific, and Charlie, 24, with the Army in Italy.

Norman, 21, is a little shaver of 138 pounds with fierce pride in his town. "After all, Connie Mack and George M. Cohan were born there," he says. After the war he hopes to go back and marry Mary Zikaras, Box 10, Hillsville rd., Spencer.

Before the war he was a doffer at the Barre Wool Co.

Lt. Arthur Mullen, 121 Lafayette st., Norwich, Ct., can boast a 100% family slate: four boys, all in service. Martin, 25, is in the Coast Guard; George, 20, is with the Air Corps in England; and James, 19, is with the Rangers.

The lieutenant, only 22, used to play football with Gil and Larry Souley (BC) at Norwich High but his football career was stopped short by a knee injury. He worked for the Goodrich Rubber Co. and spent three years at the Boston office on Commonwealth ave.

He'd be on his way to become an M.D. today if his father, Dr. Martin Mullen, hadn't died so early in life. As it is, he hopes to go to medical school after the war.

BROTHERS OFFICERS

Elias Gancher, 34, of 275 North Main st., Waterbury, Ct., has two brothers in the service, both officers—Louis, 31, a lieutenant in the transportation corps, and Ralph, 28, a captain in the medics.

Elias' father is a doctor. Elias married Natalie Kaplan from nearby Ansonia and worked as a public accountant in Waterbury before the war. ("Do me a favor, will you? Send my regards to Tommy? He's Waterbury's No. 1 sports enthusiast. I thought everybody in the world knew him.")

2 Subs Dip Monday At Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 22 (AP)—Two new submarines, the Piper and the Threadfin, will be launched at the Navy Yard Monday.

The Piper will be sponsored by Mrs. Charles W. Wilkins, wife of a Navy captain commanding a submarine division in the Pacific.

Mrs. Frank G. Fox of Evanston, Ill., will sponsor the Threadfin, with her daughter, Mrs. Francis Reed, as matron of honor.

Hore-Belisha Weds Freed War Captive

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Leslie Hore-Belisha, secretary of war in the Chamberlain cabinet, was married today to Cynthia Elliot of London, a former British canteen worker who only recently was repatriated after being a prisoner of war in Germany for more than three years.

She was captured in France while operating a traveling canteen for French troops.

Postponed because of inclement weather, the Boston Park Department's annual Gay Nineties variety revue will be held in the Fenway tonight at 8, dedicated to the Coast Guard and featuring theatrical and musical talent from this branch of the service.

Nazi Prisoners Ask Hitler Aid

WORLAND, Wyo., June 22 (INS)—Ninety-four Nazi prisoners on strike in the beet fields near Worland appealed to Adolf Hitler for help.

A spokesman for the striking Germans handed a communication to the camp commander, asking him to forward it to Herr Hitler.

The appeal said there was a lack of benches on the trucks used to transport the prisoners to and from work, a lack of sports fields, and a leaking tin roof in one of the cabins.

The strike is now in its second day. U. S. Army officers have placed the prisoners on a bread and water diet.

Boston-Montreal Air Route to Reopen

Northeast Airlines announced today it expects to reopen the Boston-Montreal air route sometime this summer by placing in service a Douglas DC-3 airliner recently added to its war-limited fleet.

The plane, turned over to the airline by the Army, has been sent to California for conversion into a 24-passenger commercial liner. Passenger service on the Boston-Montreal run was suspended on July 1, 1942, because of limited equipment.

U. S. Countess Safe in Rome

ROME, June 22 (INS)—Countess Colacicchi, the former Heien O'Brien of Pittsburgh, who is married to a general of the Vatican's Noble Guards, was located in Rome today, safe and sound despite her harrowing experiences during the Nazi occupation.

The countess told International News Service that food and water had been the main worries of her family, that she lost 30 pounds but is in good health.

She was overjoyed when her son Paul, 28, whom she had not seen for eight months, arrived two days after the Americans entered Rome. He is liaison officer with the Allied armies.

What Drink During a Heat Wave?

Valliant "Cooler" Is Grand Answer

"Keep them moderate and moderately tart," is a good rule for hot weather drinks. One that meets these requirements perfectly is a Valliant Cooler, made with Valliant California Burgundy. Here's how. Put a full teaspoon of sugar in a tall glass. Add several ice cubes and a thin slice of lemon. Then fill glass $\frac{3}{4}$ full with deep red, full-flavored Valliant Burgundy; and the rest with sparkling water. The result is a drink tangy and cool-smooth and refreshing. Of course the real flavor secret is really fine Burgundy, so be sure to ask for Valliant Burgundy. W. A. Taylor & Company, New York City. Sole Distributors for U. S. A.

Conant Praises Kirstein Chair

Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard, today hailed creation of the Louis E. Kirstein professorship in human relations at the Harvard Graduate School of Business as a project of special significance.

He announced the new chair had been established to continue the life work of the late Boston merchant by pointing the way toward maximum co-operation between business and labor. Mr. Kirstein was vice-president of Wm. Filene's Sons Co.

Funds totaling more than $200,000 have already been given for establishment of the professorship by 125 friends and business associates of the late merchant, and by a number of business concerns. Several trade unions have also contributed to the fund, the first time labor groups have given in this way to the University.

Mrs. Will Rogers Dead at 65

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 22 (AP)—Will Rogers' widow, whom he called "my first sweetheart," is dead.

Mrs. Betty Blake Rogers, 65, succumbed at the Rogers ranch home in Santa Monica canyon last night. She had been ill for several weeks.

Rogers, humorist and philosopher, was killed in a plane crash in 1935. A month ago today, his body was entombed at Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla., his home town. Mrs. Rogers' body will be interred there, too.

Betty Blake, known as "the prettiest girl in Arkansas," was born in Rogers, Ark. Rogers married her there Nov. 25, 1908. Three children survive, Will Rogers, Jr., former Congressman and now an Army lieutenant; James Rogers, acting publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen; and Miss Mary Rogers, who resided with her mother.

Flying to England With U. S. Wounded

(William Randolph Hearst, Junior, who flew with the Ninth Air Force Command evacuating wounded from France, told yesterday, in the first of his series of three articles, how planes are flown from England to landing strips near the battle front to be loaded with their precious cargo.)

By WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST, JUNIOR
(Publisher, New York Journal-American)

LONDON, June 21—There was terrific activity along the beach.

Tugs and little landing boats were piling up, unloading human cargo or material and then taking off to the transport vessels anchored offshore.

Dug into the face of the bluff were gun emplacements the Germans had apparently abandoned, as the guns looked to be all right and the caves still were filled with German ammunition.

A road leading up from the beach ran inland by the airfield.

Up it were coming a long line of American troops marching single file, followed by jeeps, trucks and tanks on the way to the front.

Farther inland were perhaps 50 or 60 Army tents with the Red Cross emblem on them.

FORCED TO BAIL OUT

It was from here that the wounded were brought in ambulances and then loaded into planes.

I got talking to a pilot in a leather jacket carrying a parachute.

He was Lt. W. S. Worrall from Cincinnati, O., who was trying to thrust a ride back to his field in England.

It turned out that he had been flying a Thunderbolt and it had been hit by German flak, forcing him to bail out.

By now they had started loading our ship.

An ambulance would back up close to the door of the plane. Then very tenderly they lifted the stretcher cases in two rows running the length of the planes, 12 to each side and four layers high.

The actual loading did not take more than 30 minutes. Putting one stretcher on the floor, they would suspend another about two feet above it, the handles of the stretchers held up by loops or straps suspended from the ceiling.

TAGS DESCRIBE WOUNDS

Then another, and then still another.

The top fellow was very snuggled up close but had room enough to turn over.

Most of them only had been wounded superficially and took a lively interest in the proceedings.

It was not long before we had a full load.

Each of the boys wore big paper tags tied around their necks describing the nature of the wounds and giving in detail the medical attention they had already received.

As we closed the doors and started the motors, I went up to the cockpit to get out of the way.

The nurse and her assistants were moving up and down the aisle between stretchers talking to each one and giving them cigarettes if they asked for them, arranging their blankets and in-general making them as comfortable as possible.

There was really only one bad case aboard, a boy suffering from wounds in his chest and leg as well as shock. His face was colorless and his lips white. He did not move the whole time, even when the nurse gave him a hypodermic of morphine.

In tomorrow's Boston American, William Randolph Hearst, Jr., tells of the vital role blood plasma is playing in the saving of countless lives among our wounded boys.

Need Driver

The Citizens' Committee for the Army and Navy, a USO affiliate, today appealed for the services of a volunteer either one day or half-day a week to drive a station wagon in collecting books, games, radios and other contributions from Boston suburbs.

Anyone interested is asked to telephone Miss Connel at Commonwealth 6810.

A drive to have a veterans' building erected centrally in downtown Boston will be launched July 7 at 8 p. m. at a mass meeting of Old Dorchester Post, 65, AL, to which all Bay State Congressmen have been invited. Alliance With None!

IT IS ASTOUNDING that in the midst of a great war to preserve our national character and after 155 years of nationalistic Americanism it has been necessary to organize a committee of Americans to proclaim OUR NATIONALISM! But such is the case.

So strong has been the trend toward political "internationalism" that Sen. Robert R. Reynolds, of North Carolina, has found it necessary to launch an American Nationalists' Committee.

Sen. Reynolds asserts, and truly so, that the heart of the American people is as nationalistic as it ever has been.

But, he said, there is a powerful minority clique in both parties and in Congress that is bent on internationalizing this country by forcing it into a humiliatingly dependent condition by means of "leagues," "alliances," "pacts" and "world-policing."

No one who has followed the trend of the times can deny for a moment that a movement that would de-nationalize the United States is afoot.

The basic principles of this Republic are national—that is, they are expressions of American ideas and principles.

Our form of nationalism was never better expounded than by Jefferson when he said in 1799:

"Commerce with all nations, alliance with none, should be our motto."

Two years later he reaffirmed that sane nationalism with this:

"We have a perfect horror at everything like connecting ourselves with the POLITICS of Europe."

Now, postwar "internationalism" aims to embroil us directly and aggressively in the "politics of Europe."

The Reynolds Nationalist Committee will endeavor to get both conventions to adopt nationalistic planks in their platforms.

IT WILL seem incredible to nearly all Americans if such a plank is not adopted.

It will seem just as incredible that it should be necessary for a movement to be organized to fight for such planks in the conventions of our two major political parties—the parties that have carried the banner of nationalism for 150 years.

The "internationalists" have used every means to hoodwink the people into the belief that nationalism was synonymous with isolation— isolation in the sense of a complete break with all the other nations of the world.

But the people are not fooled by these sinister and often bulldozing tactics. There is now, fortunately, a powerful trend toward a sane nationalist postwar America.

State and Congressional elections for more than two years have pointed to a return to "our olden principles" on the part of the American people.

The American Nationalist Committee is not a third party. It will, says Sen. Reynolds, work within the old parties to prevail on them to stick to fundamental American nationalist doctrines.

It aims at uttering an unequivocal no to all foreign commitments that will involve us in broils not of our making and in which we have no primary or even secondary interest.

It is our belief that a firm postwar nationalism on the part of the United States will do more to prevent another war than if we internationalized and de-Americanized ourselves in the interests of the perpetual war-mongers and war-makers of Europe and Asia.

"Let us have peace!" said General Grant at Appomattox.

When we, with our Allies, shall have achieved the complete defeat of our enemies that will be the phrase on every American's lips—"LET US HAVE PEACE!"

And peace we SHALL HAVE if each nation pays strict attention to its own business.

WASHINGTON, June 22—I am a serious, almost austere, type at heart, and yet I get into the screwiest decisions.

For instance, I went to see Rep. Jessie Sumner of Illinois yesterday to ask if she had been having any profound thoughts lately.

And what did I wind up discussing with the lady Congressman?

Whether it is a positive, scientific fact—or just a bit of folk lore—that sheer black silk underwear is more seductive than nothing!

This was most astounding in view of the facts, because Rep. Sumner is almost as intellectual as I am. She is a distinguished member of the bar, as well as a law-maker, and should rightly be bowlegged from carrying around so much knowledge.

The lady studied at Smith College, which many consider more than enough in itself for any dame. But she also went to the University of Chicago, Columbia University, and Oxford.

I did not go to Oxford because I could never learn to smoke a pipe, and baggy tweeds always make me itch. However, Miss Sumner does not smoke a pipe—and, if she was itching, she exercised sufficient willpower to refrain from doing anything about it in my presence.

MISS SUMNER began the discussion by saying it had just been her painful duty to put a constituent in his place.

"Do you know what he had the unmitigated gall to suggest?" she said. "That Lend-Lease be extended to America!"

"The hound!" I exclaimed. "I trust you told him he was being un-American."

"Why," cried Miss Sumner, "you are positively a mind reader! That is exactly what I told him!"

Miss Sumner said her misguided constituent is one of the leading grocers in Brockton, Ill. He wrote her that the local drainage system was on the bum and that the cellars of most homes were flooded half the time.

He said the city engineers had figured that new drainage could be installed for $30,000 but that they did not have $30,000.

"Why can't we get $30,000 worth of Lend-Lease?" he asked. "It seems to me that keeping our homes habitable and therefore free from disease could be considered part of the war effort."

Miss Sumner said she told the erring voter that the laws governing Lend-Lease are very stringent and that one of the cardinal points is that nothing can be given away to America. "I gave it to him straight," she said. "I told him it would be absolutely against the law to include Brockton in Lend-Lease and that he had a hideous nerve to suggest that I be a party to anything illegal."

"I am no law-breaker or scoundrel," Miss Sumner said she wrote. "Please remember that I am in Congress where the laws are made."

MISS SUMNER offered me a glass of vintage tea which she said had been standing all day. I told her I had not come for any tea swilling.

"I will not offer you anything else," she said. "The first time I ran for Congress I bought a man a beer and there was the most fearful stink. I was accused of trying to corrupt voters. I might say that I am a soft drink fan myself—although you can print that I have the solid tavern vote behind me."

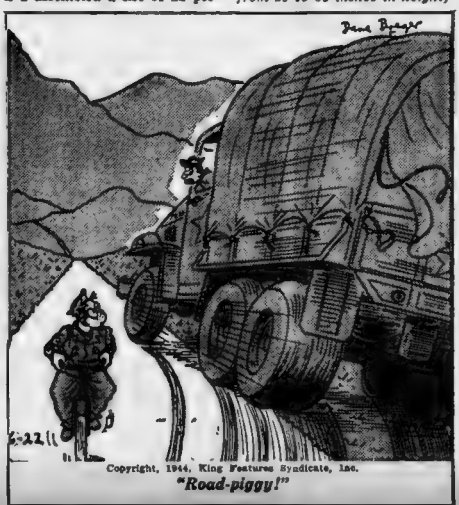

We got around to the black underwear versus nothing debate via a discussion of the plans and aims of the Republican party.

states Dr. Reinhard V. Lozier. "He creeps about and pulls himself up into a standing position when near something to which he can cling. Sometimes a child may have learned to stand alone and even take a few steps if not too chubby." So, according to Dr. Lozier, a child starts to walk at the age of one year. In El Monte, Cal., according to recent dispatches, there is a child, Clarence Dwight Zillig, who started to walk at the age of five weeks. When Clarence is one year old, he will probably be out on the cinder track breaking the 100-yard dash record.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—"Don't you think you have too much to say about Brooklyn?" A—Yes ma'am. Much, too much. Next week I shall write a column in which I do not mention Brooklyn, my dog or breakfast and will use the personal pronoun "I" only 14 times. . . . Q—"You refer to the 'mechanical chess player' at the Eden Musee in New York. Wasn't it a checker player?" A—"It was a checker player. The clients of this department certainly do check me as to accuracy. They will make a newspaperman out of me yet. . . . Q—"Regarding that song about red-heads that Irene Franklin sang, did you know the last line was 'why wasn't I born a blonde?' She had something there. A—Irene was undoubtedly speaking in jest. I never knew a red-haired woman who wanted to be a blonde. All red-heads seem highly pleased that nature made them brick-tops. Also consider all the females, including many blondes, who pay beauty shop operators to make them imitation red-heads.

HOLLYWOOD, June 22—The "Hardy" series goes on—even without Mickey Rooney. Now a "Hardy" movie without Mickey, who is in the Army, is like apple pie without la mode, but that is exactly what it is on the ticket. The chief role in the first Rooney-less "Hardy" goes to June Allyson, the little blonde who has the New York reviewers singing over her performance in "Two Girls and a Sailor." She's a cute trick, and it all turns out well June will carry on in a feminine version of the antics that used to beset "Andy."

Another indication that the Hardys still flourish is Fay Holden's renewed contract to continue as "Ma Hardy."

GERTRUDE LAWRENCE'S cold shoulder toward Hollywood hasn't kept her daughter, Pamela, from accepting a role in "Winged Victory" at 20th. The real reason for her Hollywood visit, however, isn't a movie career. Pamela's husband, Carl William Cahan, is the medical officer in charge of the "Winged Victory" company, and she wanted to be near him, even to turning down a bid for a stage show in New York.

"Shorts" cost the solons around $300—but that includes five prints to be shipped around the home states of the native sons.

WHAT APPEARED to be a lovely reconciliation between the Gregory La Cava at a prominent night spot lasted just long enough to develop into another spot. Some one asked Mrs. La Cava if they were making up and the lady cheerfully replied, "I hope so." Whereupon Mr. La C. got up and stomped away from the table, murmuring something that sounded like "600,000—humph!" which was the figure Mrs. La Cava had asked for (and didn't receive) in her divorce settlement. The figure seems to have stuck in his mind! But it all ended on a more or less cheerful note when he returned to at least finish the very good dinner he had ordered.

Alfred Delage, Jr., producer of "Voice of the Turtle," is at the Beverly Hills Hotel huddling with author John Van Druten about next season's road companies. And, no doubt, the boys will get to discussing that $3,000,000 price tag on "Turtle" for the movies; Peter Whitney's broken foot isn't holding up work on "Murder, He Says." They've painted a shoe on the cast including faces. Oliver Sam Goldenwyn, who goes to New York in the new David Niven movie made in England, "The Way Ahead," will be waiting his okay before release in this country; Maureen O'Hara's baby is due June 27; the stork still keeps busy on the 20th lot; Bernice Lynn, in "Something for the Boys," and her husband, Herbert Henson, are on the calling list. Boston After Dark

THE CONTRACT WHICH CHARLIE KOERNER signed with a handshake in Boston, calling for the appearance forthwith in Hollywood of Noble and King, the singing duo, has become a profitable document just six months after it was effected... The boss of RKO (Mr. Koerner) was steered to the Sallie Room, where Noble and King were appearing, by a Boston friend... He was impressed... But Harry Noble's unique and beautiful arrangements of popular songs, with himself and Miss (Frances) King singing to the Noble piano accompaniment, had been "irresistible" before, according to what film executives had told them.

The KOERNER applause was different, and something happened... Arthur Will, RKO's talent scout, appeared in Boston... He had the important papers with him, and Noble and King, under the customary seven-year-option plan (which is the limit of a labor contract under California's laws) were whisked to Hollywood... Then set in what Mr. Koerner calls the "Hollywood processing"... Noble and King were cast in a Frank Sinatra picture... But they weren't permitted to sing, although it was their vocation, that had attracted Mr. Koerner.

THE TWO YOUNG singers worked four weeks in their first four months under contract... Meantime, they were appearing (gratis) on the Players Club Saturday night broadcasts, and fan mail started coming in... But having no studio assignment for the promising team, the RKO booking office started them on a round of nightclub appearances.

TWO WEEKS AGO they were booked into the Clover Club, Hollywood's swankiest nightclub... Noble and King began the overnight "rave" of the cinema town's cognoscenti... Other producers were impressed, and offers started to come in to the RKO sanctuary where Mr. Koerner rules... Winchell added his meed of praise to the talk which was going the Hollywood rounds about Noble and King... Walter in his column of Wednesday tabbed them as "big time"... With this accolade from the oracle who has more influence with the Hollywood moguls than any eastern newspaper columnist, Noble and King are "hot" in Hollywood...

Their Boston friends—and they made hundreds—can pick up their career from this point on... The Hollywood press agents will be keeping them informed.

GLORIA SWANSON has had bad luck in the choice of a new vehicle, and the former film star's Broadway "comeback" will be delayed until a hurried continuation of star and play can be achieved.

TODAY'S LUNCHEON of the "Committee of One Hundred," at the Copple-Plaza, was sponsored (and paid for) by Max Hoffman, the clothing manufacturer... The convocation comprises Bostonians who are becoming the Fifth War Loan Drive.

FAMINE IN CHINA, especially in the Kwangtung province, has put the food of Boston's "Chinatown" in mourning for the millions of Chinese who are starving... American dollars... poured into the famine-stricken districts from Chinese who helped support their loved ones... Under a favorable rate of exchange, the American money helped keep the action in food... But the Chinese dollar now buys what a half-cent would buy before the Jap stranglehold on the China coast was in effect.

HOLLYWOOD, June 22—A series of advertisements—very humorous—have been appearing in the trade papers signed by a Mr. Libetkin, who is trying to sell a house. The latest ad called "Protest" says:
"For three or four weeks now we have been advertising a beautiful Hollywood hillside home for sale and there are several people who haven't bought it yet. Naturally, when we don't sell the place, we have to put another ad in the paper; these big ads cost a lot of dough and yet you sit calmly by and let us throw our money away. You are not showing the right spirit or the proper attitude, otherwise you would have purchased this lovely house when we first told you about it.

"If you can't afford a beautiful home that has a large living room with a gorgeous view of the whole city and four charming bedrooms, each with a private bath, then why don't you come out and see it? It's no disgrace not to have $39,000.

"However, when the owner of a place like this, who has spent a fortune on it, is decent enough to offer to sell it at a fraction of its original cost the least you can do is to show your gratitude by buying it whether you can afford it or not. Even if you don't need a house right now that's still no excuse; you can buy it and put it away like you've been doing with nylon stockings and Scotch.

"... You can send us your check now or wait until you've seen the house—which ever is most convenient. If purchased this week, the owner will leave the garden hose and the long handle that turns on the sprinkler system. There's a $10,000 mortgage on the place which he will also leave.

"P. S.—There's nothing to stop you from buying the exquisite furnishings in this house, either—unless it's the lack of money.

"P. S. No. 2.—You can also get immediate occupancy. In fact, the owner and his wife are stinking in the doorway now with their grip."

Debut at Luncheon

MRS. ALLEN GREENWOOD of Commonwealth ave. gave a luncheon at the Ritz Roof today in honor of her debutante daughter, Grace Tucker Greenwood.

Grace attended Beaver Country Day and is taking a secretarial course at Bryant Stratton.

For the month of July, Grace and her mother will join her sister deb, Jeanne Barstow and her mother, Mrs. Frances Barstow of Chestnut Hill, for a swimming and sailing vacation at Fairlee, Vt.

For her debut today, Grace wore a dark blue sheer dress with a white trimmed navy hat and corsage of white orchids. Her mother's dress was black and white dotted sheer with a black hat and gardenias.

They received before an antique gold screen flanked with tall standards of flowers. The long T-shaped luncheon table was decorated with white flowering geraniums surrounded by novel brilliant colored "pin-up" bouquets—one for each guest.

More Scrap Paper Needed

Collections in the city-wide drive for waste paper and scrap tin resumed in Wards 15, 16 and 17 of Dorchester and Ward 18, Hyde Park, today with salvage officials pleading for bigger donations of paper.

The June drive ends tomorrow with collections in Ward 19, Jamaica Plain; Ward 20, Roslindale and West Roxbury, and Wards 21 and 22, Allston and Brighton.

The first 14 wards of the city turned in a total of 563,753 pounds of waste paper, but this was considerably below the 639,780 pounds that residents in the identical area donated last month.

Tin collections totalled 211,960 pounds, compared to but 180,800 pounds last month, bringing some joy to the hearts of hard working salvagers.

But it is paper that is needed most right now, according to officials. They said that the June collections already are speeding to the mills to replenish stock piles and that bigger donations are needed if boys on the invasion fronts are to get the supplies they need.

Two New JVA Corps Formed

Two new corps have been organized by Junior Victory Army members for home front activities to help win the war.

One has been formed by John Kenney, Shawmut, Boston, and the other by William Magne, Eutaw st., East Boston. Among John's members are George, Pauline and Gene Hayward.

Each of the units has yet to select a name for their group and select officers. John Kenney is anxious to provide entertainment for servicemen at camps, base and hospitals. He has already appeared in radio programs.

The corps has collected 2000 keys, 15 lbs. of kitchen fats and 400 lbs. of paper weekly as part of the war effort.

The "Brighton Girls" Corps of the JVA, with Theresa Marchione as commander and Maria Trodella as captain, reports that each member has bought at least a $25 war bond in the Fifth War Loan Campaign.

Both the commander and the captain have large Victory gardens while the other members have smaller ones and all are busy cultivating their plants as part of the war effort.

New members are expected to be recruited at their next meeting.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army, Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well-wrapped in the next letter.

Read the next JVA story in Friday's Daily Record.

Investigators also questioned a Woonsocket man who pleaded guilty in New Bedford court to a charge of assaulting an 8-year-old Attleboro girl after Attleboro police reported that his attack on the child was similar to the abuse suffered by Frances McGrath.

Still sought for questioning is a Scituate man who recently disappeared after withdrawing funds from his bank account.

Rewards for apprehension and conviction of the slayer or slayers now total $2500. The Record-American-Sunday Advertiser has a standing reward of $1500 in war bonds, of which $1000 was offered by these newspapers for exclusive information leading to apprehension of the killer. Added by a reader whose name is held in confidence was $500.

Many Stars in Loew's Musical

Marking the 20th anniversary since Leo the Lion first roared from the nation's 17,000 screens, "Two Girls and a Sailor" hailed as one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's gayest musicals, today initiates a week of merriment in Loew's twin theaters.

Obviously, Metro believes in celebrating this gala event in a strictly bangup fashion, for "Two Girls and a Sailor" is a star-studded production glittering with such "names" as Van Johnson, June Allyson, Gloria De Haven, Jimmy Durante, Harry James, Xavier Cugat, Lena Horne, Jose Iturbi and Grace Allen.

June Allyson and Gloria De Haven, as pretty a pair of peaches as you'll find on one screen, are cast as a sister act, nightclub entertainers who have been born and brought up in the theater. During a New York nightclub engagement, Gloria is nightly "orchestrated" by an anonymous somebody, June unsuccessfully tries to identify the sender, aided by Jimmy Durante, impersonating an ex-vaudeville.

Meanwhile, with the aid of the unknown benefactor, the sisters establish a serviceman's canteen, subsequently discover that their mysterious friend is a wealthy and handsome young sailor, played by Van Johnson. And from there on it's love, love, love.

Richard Thorpe directed for Producer Joseph Pasternak. Included among the interesting short subjects making up the rest of the bill are shots of the 13th annual CYO band, fife, drum and drill competition recently held at the Boston College athletic field. More than 25 competitive groups are represented and the Rev. Richard J. Cushing, D. D., administrator of the archdiocese of Boston, is heard in an address.

JENNIFER JONES, who plays with heart-stirring naturalness the peasant maid of Lourdes in "The Song of Bernadette," 20th Century-Fox's great picture which is now in its eighth week at the Majestic Theater.

Pacific Film At Trans-Lux

A scientific snatch is almost accomplished by some Japs and Nazis in Columbia's "Two-Man Submarine," the new Trans-Lux meller which is long on joke but short on inventiveness.

The almost-snatch is attempted in an isolated South Pacific island where American research workers Tom Neal and Ann Savage are secretly producing penicillin mold for the government. When some of the mold is discovered to be missing from the laboratory and later Ann appears to be encouraging the enemy agent played by Abner Biberman, Neal links her with the Japs and Nazis.

Things get very hot in this hot little isle in the South Pacific but Miss Savage manages the miracle of appearing to be what is known as calm and collected. With all the Nazi rushing-around she emerges neat and clean as a hound's tooth, cleared not only of all suspicion but shining with love for the butterfly-mustached Neal. "I Was a Spy," with Madeleine Carroll, Herbert Marshall and Conrad Veidt, is a second-run which you'll want to see again.

Fashion

BAGS LARGE AND ROOMY are smart accents for any costume... and this tricky design which looks like a taffy pull... is of black faille with soft, candy-like top handle... and the ruffled ends caught up in shell rings. A most unusual looking bag it is which Warner filmstress Dolores Moran carries to contrast with her pastel-colored dress suit.—R. M.

Thanks Notes

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: I am just about to mail my wedding invitations. My mother told me today that she read in your column recently that even though the bride-to-be thanks personally the givers of wedding gifts (for example, co-workers or other friends whom she happens to meet direct after she has received their gifts) she should write thank-you notes to them just the same. Is this really necessary?

PHYLLIS.

Yes, this is really necessary... if you wish to have the friends who have been so kind and generous to you regard you as a courteous and appreciative person. If you don't write them thank-you notes, your expression of appreciation will savor of your being far too casual. And that's not a pleasant taste to leave in the minds and hearts of your thoughtful friends!

the same time lift menus out of monotonous grooves. Their use in everyday meal is limited only by imagination and ingenuity. For example, here are some main dish recipes using nutritious peanuts. Serve them once to your family and they'll be demanded again and again.

Spanish Lamb

5 strips bacon, cut fine
2 cups uncooked lamb shoulder, cut in cubes
1/2 cup seasoned flour
1 1/2 cups diced celery
1 cup sliced Spanish onions
1 1/2 cups shelled green peas
3/4 tsp. lemon juice
1 1/2 cups tomato juice
3/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 cup peanuts, raw blanched

Cook the bacon to a light brown, then add meat which has been sprinkled with seasoned flour. Brown on all sides, add sliced onions and other ingredients, salting to taste. Cover and leave until steam appears, then reduce heat to simmer for 1 hour. Beef shoulder may be substituted for lamb.

Spanish Cole Slaw

1/2 cups shredded green cabbage
1 cup canned whole grain corn
1/2 cup pimiento
Salt to taste
1/2 cup salted peanuts, chopped
2 tbsp. minced onion
Tomato dressing

Have vegetables very crisp. Finely shred cabbage. Combining all ingredients. Toss well and serve.

Finish up a dinner on a hot night with a new dessert—ice-cold peanut butter blanc mange. Your reputation as a good cook will soar to a new high, yet it's not a difficult dessert to make. Here's how it's done:

Peanut Butter Blanc Mange

2 1/2 cups scalded milk
3/4 tsp. cornstarch
1-3/4 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup peanut butter
1/2 cup cold milk
1 tsp. vanilla
Mix cornstarch, sugar, and salt. Add small amount of scalded milk, blend thoroughly. Add to remaining milk in double boiler, cook 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool. Place peanut butter in bowl, add 1/2 of the milk, whip with rotary beater until smooth; add remaining milk, whip until smooth. Add cooled milk mixture. Blend. Add vanilla. Chill. Serve with cream or whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

8 Oils in This Shampoo

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

YOU'LL PROBABLY agree that it's nice work if you can have a perpetually lustrous head of hair... vibrant and highlighted... with that diamond-like sparkle of health and wealth... and that lucky is the gal or guy who has such a crop to boast about.

Ever notice how a Big Hunk of Man will spill reams of sonnets about feminine tresses... and how some adoring gal will sing the Big Moment's praises to the heavens if he has a Vic Mature mop of crowning glory? Some of us have naturally lovely hair... others come by it the hard and persistent way... the careful and regular way of good, sound shampoos... using a lathering ingredient that not only glazes the strands but benefits the scalp.

Or are you one of those "I don't care" gals or guys... who look in the mirror... shudder at the hair reflection... and then blithely retire with a book, a box of candy and the radio to soothe your wounded head?

ADVISES OIL SHAMPOO

The crop that tops your appeal is your problem... but definitely... and these days when the war jitters has gotten into everybody's hair... men and women alike are subject to hair pitfalls... and complaints are mounting about hair condition. Doctors will tell you, of course, that the nervous system has definitely to do with the condition of your scalp. So if your nerves are quiet and good... but your hair is still unruly and unsightly... take a tip and give it an oil shampoo... product of famous beautician... who, herself, was bald... yes bald, until she reached the age of 12.

Today one of the best known authorities on the care of the hair and scalp... she advises the use of a castile and vegetable oil shampoo if you would aspire to a clean, healthy, luxuriant head of hair... reconditioning as well as cleansing.

Eight vegetable oils have been added to the finest of castile bases to make this head lathering the coast-to-coast success that it is. And men can easily use it under the shower for it rinses off thoroughly and quickly. See how your hair softens and becomes lustrously highlighted after its use... and urge your male favorite to try it, too. One tablespoon for one lather is all you need... and two latherings do a grand job.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY—Yesterday morning as I read the news, I could not but be encouraged by Mr. Churchill's suggestion of hope for a more rapid ending of the war than had seemed possible in the past. There is no one who will not pray for the war to come to an end soon. In the meantime we rejoice that we have been victorious and that our men have fought so gallantly.

I cannot help having a heavy heart, however, for I know that even though the casualties are lighter than the war command expected, whatever man has lost his life is the one important person to some family, and many men, women and children are going to feel that life is hardly worth living when the person they love best is gone.

IN THESE dark hours which must be lived through by so many people, I think there is only one thing which can remain a fixed point in the darkness—namely, the determination that the sacrifices of youth in this generation shall not be in vain.

As individuals we feel sometimes we can do very little, but in a democracy, each individual has to fully live up to the obligations of his citizenship. Unless he expresses himself, those obligations may go unfulfilled. So each of us has the obligation to know how to make our citizenship count.

We have to make up our minds

Dry Cleaner Best

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SUMMER the time when soiled or stained dresses show up most and look the most unappealing. I'd like to remind you that any spots you get on your clothes now ought to get immediate attention, and that means the day you get them. Otherwise it may be too late.

You may be able to get some spots out of your dresses yourself, but if you have the slightest doubt, then the best and safest course is to take them to a good dry cleaner, who is a spot expert. He will do a lot better than you can.

Any stain or spot that is left in a garment any length of time is likely to settle in and stay there permanently. For one thing when a spot gets thoroughly dry, it sets in the fibers of your dress, and is hard to re-dissolve even for an expert. And for another thing, stains and spots actually may change their chemical composition, and give you a really tough problem.

Vaccines Made By New Method

CHICAGO, June 22 (AP)—A simple method of making vaccines by exposure to a powerful ultraviolet ray lamp for less than one second—was announced in the journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The development may revolutionize the production of vaccines, and heretofore has been a tedious and painstaking process, the statement said.

The new method was reported to produce vaccines which, from preliminary tests upon animals, are superior or equal to those made by the old method.

It was developed by Dr. H. J. Reese of the Reese Hospital in Chicago and Sidney O. Levine of the University of Illinois at Urbana.

$23,000 a Year To McLennan Here

By JACK CONWAY

RACING SECRETARY CHARLEY MCLENNAN of Suffolk Downs is receiving $23,000 a year under his contract with the East Boston track. This contract will not expire until early in 1946. It is estimated that with his income from his positions as racing secretary with Hialeah Park, Havre de Grace, Pimlico and Garden State added to what he receives from Suffolk Downs McLennan earns more than $75,000 a year which makes him the highest paid racing official in the world.

McLennan's contract with Suffolk Downs has caused considerable speculation and comment, but its contents were kept secret until this writer was permitted to examine the instrument. It was shown to me by Bruce Wetmore, comptroller of Suffolk Downs, and was taken from one of the Chas. McLennan files in the executive offices at the track. It was handed the contract by Wetmore and given an opportunity to read it.

Under the terms of the contract, which will be in effect until early in 1946, McLennan receives $500 a month during the off season for racing at Suffolk Downs. Once the 60-day meeting opens McLennan's salary becomes $300 a day.

Sixty days of racing at $300 a day gives McLennan $18,000 when he is on the job for each day of the meeting. The $500 a month clause covers the other ten months of the season and nets McLennan an additional $5,000.

I was also allowed to examine McLennan's payroll slips. They showed that the average amount he has received since he was racing Secretary at Suffolk Downs was $23,000 a year. One year his total receipts dropped to $22,750. When McLennan goes to Garden State late next week for the first week of the Garden State meeting, he will be paid at the rate of $500 a month by Suffolk Downs while he is away from the local track.

Can Keep Other Jobs

WHEN MCLENNAN agreed to come to Suffolk Downs, he gave up his berth with the Chicago tracks as there was a conflict of dates. There is a clause in his contract that permits him to retain his positions with the other tracks with which he was associated at the time.

The importance that was placed on the acquisition of McLennan by Suffolk Downs is shown by a clause which calls for the local track to arrange its dates so that they will not conflict with McLennan's other positions as racing secretary. McLennan also agreed to do what he could to avoid conflicts between the other tracks by which he was employed and Suffolk Downs.

Charles F. Adams was president of Suffolk Downs at the time the contract was signed and his signature appears on the document with that of McLennan.

Will Work Out Contract

"I SHALL work out my contract with Suffolk Downs," McLennan told me when I questioned him about his future with the East Boston track. "Just now I am doing what I can to get the best possible field of horses for the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap that will be held at Suffolk Downs on July 19."

"Greentree Stable will start either Devil Diver or Four Freedoms. I also look for Apache, Great Rush, Coronal, Tola Rose and some other leading thoroughbreds to start in this class."

"There were 37 horses nominated for the race. In addition to the thoroughbreds I have already mentioned, the list of eligibles includes Bossuet, Slide Rule, Defense, Princequillo, Bourmont, Valinda Lamar, Director J. E. Goobar Lad, Jimmie, Ramillies, Challamere, Alquest, Aletan, Famous Victor, Sir Up, Eurasian, Chicago Dr., Rounders, Some Class, Castleman, King's Abbey, Thumbs Up, Chop Chop, Alex Barth, Incoming, First Fiddle, Alsbath, Dense Path and Dinner Jacket."

"Some of these horses are now out of training. Others are pointing for other races, but from the group you may be sure that we shall have a starting field that will live up to the highest traditions of the Massachusetts Handicap."

Quinn Hunts New B's

By BILL GRIMES

Due to a stretch of bad baseball and bad weather the Braves haven't done much business during this home stay, which wound up with a doubleheader with the Phillies this afternoon starting at 3:15 at the Allston Wigwam.

The annual June line storm washed the Braves and Phillies out again yesterday, so neither club has played since last Sunday. Sec. John Quinn arranged today's twin bill. After the first game the clubs will play a two game which will get under way at 5:30.

The Braves hit the road after today's double attraction. With the exception of Jim Tobin, Al Javery, "Red" Barrett, Ira Hutchinson, Nate Andrews, Clyde Klutznick and Max Macon, who will go over to New York tomorrow, the Braves will take the midnight for the Big City from where they will bus it to Orangeburg, N. Y., for an exhibition game tomorrow against the Camp Shanks club.

PLAY WAR RELIEF GAME

Before they start west the Braves have a three-game series with the Giants at the Polo Grounds. There'll be a single game Saturday and a double header on Sunday. Then the Coleman will drop off at Geneva, N. Y., Monday to take on the undefeated Sampson Naval Base club, after which they will continue on to Cincinnati where they are scheduled to play a twilight-night game Wednesday. This will be the first war relief game played in the National League this season.

Although the Braves have been idle since Sunday, President Bob Quinn and Manager Bob Coleman have been on the go daily from morning to night. They have been scouring the country by telephone and telegrams trying to purchase players.

"In all the years I've been connected with baseball," declared Manager Coleman, "I've never seen minor league owners as independent as they are today. Why, you can't get them to put a price on players. It looks like our money isn't going to be any good to us for the duration."

QUINN GOES SCOUTING

Pres. Quinn became so desperate that he decided to take the bull by the horns and go out on a scouting trip. He left yesterday morning for New York and plans to make a swing down through the South to see if there are any available players.

"I hope we can get back into action this afternoon," continued Coleman. "We've laid off long enough for the boys to have shaken off the bad baseball that's been in their systems for a couple of weeks."

"I've decided to go back to the old lineup, which did very well for us during our last long home stay. I'm going to give Al Wright a shot at left field and see how Butch Nieman does in the sun garden. We must get all the power possible in action, even though we have to sacrifice some defensive strength."

Al Javery and Jim Tobin will do the pitching for the Braves this afternoon and Manager Freddie Fitzsimmons will send "Kewpie" Barrett and Charlie Shanz, a product of the Pacific Coast League.

MAJ. TUSS McLAUGHRY
Makes Hanley "All-America War Coach" List

Teach Fighting, Dick Hanley Plea

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 22 (AP)—Lt. Col. Richard E. Hanley, former coach at Northwestern, urged the nation's college and high school grid coaches today to "quit building better football men and start building better fighting men."

In charge of combat conditioning for Marine Aviation on the Pacific Coast, Hanley recently returned to duty here after working out a program in Washington, D. C., for physical training and combat conditioning for the entire Marine Corps.

Hanley said if coaches would forget about winning football games and concentrate on winning wars, they could prove a big help. "Instead of taking athletes and making them into football players, coaches should take young men who are not physically fit, build them into fighting men," said Hanley.

"Many a potential 4-F could be turned into a 1-A with proper conditioning, and the coaches are qualified to provide that condition."

Hanley said if coaches could see the job like Lt. Comdr. Jim Crowley (former Fordham coach), Lt. Comdr. Dick Harlow (former Harvard coach), Lt. Comdr. George Halas (former Chicago Beach coach) and Marine Maj. Tuss McLaughry (former Dartmouth coach) are doing, "they would be only too glad to help build a winning war team instead of a winning football team."

Although Hanley spoke deprecatingly of wartime football, he was enthusiastic about the post-war future of the game and all other sports.

Skidding Sox In Pair With A's

If Owner Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox were of a sentimental nature he might be impelled to wire Manager Joe Cronin to come home, that all is forgiven. But Tom knows Joe and his Sox have two more ball games to play with the Athletics in Philadelphia today.

This Athletics team which last week blew four straight to the Sox at Fenway Park, has now taken three straight from the Sox on their home lot. Just where this complete reversal of form is going to land the Red Sox is hard to figure at this stage. But they certainly must snap out of it if they still entertain hopes of displacing the St. Louis Browns from the top.

The Athletics have now won six straight games and once again the American League race is in a merry jumble.

That guy Dick Siebert, A's first sacker born in Fall River, seems to be carrying a distinct grudge against the Red Sox judging by the manner in which he has been hitting and driving in runs in this series. Dick accounted for three of the A's runs yesterday.

Manager Joe Cronin was to shoot Joe Bowman and George Woods against the A's in today's twin bill. Instead, while Connie Mack planned to call on Don Black and Gus Christopher.

Immediately after tonight's nightcap the Red Sox will entrain for home where they meet Washington tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Joe DiMaggio Still Slugging

ATLANTA, June 22 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, ex-New York Yankee star outfielder, after two years of Army service apparently preserves the punch that twice won him the American League batting crown.

DiMaggio, now 29 and a staff sergeant in the Army Air Force, Marine Corp. C. A. Darby says in a letter to Joe Livingston of the Atlanta Journal sports staff, landed at a Central Pacific base two weeks ago with a group of other former major leaguers.

In four games, writes Darby, DiMaggio hit four home runs, one of which, "his longest, went for 450 feet in a night game."

Browns Build Lead Over Red Sox

The Chicago Cubs are headed for a major league futility record, unless they do better in the next 11 games against the St. Louis Cardinals than they did in the first 11. The Cubs and Cards have met 11 times. The results:

Back in 1937 the Reds lost 21 of 22 to Pittsburgh, and in 1927 the Browns had the same record against the Yankees, but the clanking Cubs are halfway on the road to erasing both marks.

The Cubs have not fared so poorly against one team since 1902, when they dropped 17 of 20 games to the Phillies. On the other hand, the Cards' best record against any team is 19 won and three lost against the Braves last year.

Manager Charlie Grimm used six pitchers and six pinch hitters against the Cards yesterday, but lost 6-4 and 7-2. The double win increased the Cards' lead over Pittsburgh to eight and one half games, their biggest margin of the season.

The Giants drubbed Brooklyn, 11-2, for their 18th triumph in the last 24 games, to take over third place. Mel Ott scored his 171st run to break his tie with Hans Wagner and set up a new National League record.

After eight scoreless innings, Cincinnati scored in the ninth, but the Pittsburgh Pirates counted two in their half to take the game, 2-1.

The Athletics made it three in a row over Boston, 5-2. New York and Washington divided a double header, the champions taking the first 4-3, after trailing 1-3 until the seventh. The Browns increased their American League lead to two and one-half games over the Red Sox by trouncing the Chicago White Sox 11-2. Rookie Paul O'Dea batted "four for four" as Cleveland defeated Detroit in a slugfest, 9-7.
